Dear Lord,

Thank you for the park where I can play with my friends and family.

Thank you for my life, so I can bring some happiness into other people’s lives.

Thank you for my friends and family who I can do things with.

Thank you for the world that gives a giant platform to walk on.

Thank you for my teachers who show me things I do not know yet.

Thank you for my mum and dad who brought me life.

Dear Lord, in this prayer I ask you to help me to fulfil my Lenten promise of playing less computer games.

And I thank you for everything.

In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.

AMEN

DEAR GOD,

Thank you for the life you gave me and thank you for the gift of good health as I enjoy every single day.

Thank you for my family and for the love that my dad, my mum and my brother show me every moment.

Thank you for all the friends you gave me as they never leave me alone.

Thank you for all the wonderful talents you gave me.

God help me to pray during Lent.

AMEN

FRIENDSHIP BRIDGE

...to build a friendship bridge you need to be helpful and kind to others

The family lived in a little cove made of two rocks that fell on top of each other in a mini avalanche. The floor was scattered with soft sand and the walls were rubbed clean. Outside, a little garden, splashed with colours, grew many types of delicious seaweed.

By Miriam

In the garden there was rocky road, soft green grass. There were beautiful flowers which smell like perfume. Colourful birds singing sweetly. There were tall green trees. She picked colourful sweet juicy fruits from the bushes. They were colourful like a rainbow!

When Felix was happy, he smiled, but still had a cold sadness in the middle of his heart, which was an urge to see his long-lost parents. Felix was 8, nearly 9, and he loved animals and that’s why he got Snort. Felix went to school in LA which he adored because he had people to talk to.

INTERVIEW WITH MUMMY

My mummy, Paula, has agreed to talk to us about ‘before I was born’. I asked her the 5 ‘W’ and 1 ‘H’ questions.

What did you do before I was born?

Before you were born I worked in the fashion industry creating couture clothes. I managed the business.

When did you do it how old were you and how long did you do it for?

I started when she was 27 and stopped when I was 35.

Why did you do it and did you like it?

I liked working in fashion especially the creativity and detail of couture. And yes I did like it.

Who did you work for?

Catharine Walker, Bruce Oldfield, and Anouska Hemple.

Where did you do it?

In Kensington and Chelsea. Catherine Walker, the shop, is just across the road in Sydney Street. You can see it from the school and if you have ever wondered what the ladies in the little house across the road in Bury Walk are doing outside the school office entrance with the sewing machines they are Catherine Walker's workers making the dresses the shop sells.

How did you do it?

I was in charge of many things including:

Production. Which meant finding people to oversee the making of the clothes. Finding and buying the materials we used. Then finding people to make the clothes.

PR. Making sure the image the company was what we wanted and what people thought of the clothes was good.

Sales; Selling the clothes to the customers, other shops and looking after our VIPs like Princes Diana, Margret Thatcher and the many famous actresses and beautiful people who loved to wear our clothes. They always need something special when they went to an imported party or event so I helped them choose it and showed them how to wear it.

It is all much more complicated than it seems to look super fabulous.

Accounts: making sure the money we spent and the money we got from selling the clothes all when to the right people and places and making sure we knew how much it cost.

Lastly.... Who were your inspirations?

A very difficult question....so difficult. I loved all the designers but if pushed I have to say both Alaia and YSL.

ALL ABOUT THE COWBOYS

The Little House books are by Laura Ingalls Wilder and are famous for their great writing about the Wild West.

There are 8 books that Laura wrote, all about her life, including Farmer boy which is about Almanzo, her husband. These books are adventure stories, featuring that uniquely American creation, the pioneer family. They tell us about the hardships and survival strategies of the Ingalls family as they settle into the mid West of America. The characters are Mary, oldest daughter of Ma and Pa Ingalls, Laura, Carrie and Grace. Laura has great courage in all she does and although she didn’t want to teach at school she made herself do it. I think Laura is a great writer because all her enthusiasm in her writing is never failing. If you like these stories there are a few good playmobil toys of this time in American history where the Red Indians, now known as Native Americans, struggled against the new settlers for their land. It was the Native Americans who really owned the land and were there first.
HOW TO MAKE CANDY CRYSTALS

1. Mix 1 cup of water with 3 cups of sugar in a saucepan.
2. Bring this to a boil over medium to high heat and then remove from heat.
3. Add food colour or some flavouring (vanilla, peppermint extract, cherry extract etc) if desired (optional).
4. Stir.
5. Pour into a glass container and suspend a string from a pipe cleaner so that the string is just in the solution.
6. After a few days, crystal will begin to grow on the object suspended in the liquid.
7. Pour into new container if there are too many sugar crystals on the bottom or sides of the container.

Once there was a little girl called Jill who had shoulder length hair which was a reddish gold colour, and sky-blue eyes. Unfortunately she had been washed up on Jebety Island at the age of two in a boat accident, not knowing if her parents had survived. Soon she made friends with all the island animals and made a house out of tree branches and leaves.

The island was surrounded in an azure sea that trickled up and down the warm white sand. On the sand, seals basked in the warm sun, occasionally sliding into the cool sea. The sand was dotted with beautiful shells. The jungle was thick and full of wonderful sounds from crickets, monkeys and birds. In the undergrowth there were such strange flowers it was unreal.

On the island Jill could do anything and go anywhere apart from to the top of the big volcano. In all the years she had been on the island (7 to be exact) it had not erupted but she still wanted to be careful just in case.

One morning Jill woke up and started to make breakfast when there was an almighty rumble and shrieks from all the birds. She opened the door, which was just a giant palm tree leaf, and peeped outside. To her horror she saw the massive volcano was smoking at the top and the sky had turned an icky grey and swirling clouds covered the sky.

“Oh no” groaned Jill, realising what the rumbling had been. Quickly, she started calling all the animals towards her and told them to find anything that they would be able to make boats out of.

All the animals rushed away in every direction and suddenly the jungle was full of crashes and shrieks from the animals and birds. In around ten minutes all of them had come back with branches, leaves and straw (for the beds). Then Jill sent them to get tar from near the volcano but told them to be careful.

In around five seconds they had all come back with coconuts full of tar. That’s when the building began… They used tar to stick everything together, tar on the bottom to keep it afloat, leaves for doors and beds and branches for the actual boat (and life boats).

Finally, the boat was done! It was the size of ten elephants stacked on top of each other, and as wide as ten elephants lined side by side. But the volcano had lava spilling down the sides.

“Quick everybody on the boat now…QUICK!” screamed Jill, starting to freak out.

They all got on and were ready to go, when…

Ice cream!

There once was a little ice-cream,
He made everyone scream,
This always made him cry,
Then he would at least try,
To make friends with them.

One very rainy day,
He decided to run away,
He ran to ice-cream world,
And suddenly curled,
Up into a ball.

Then one sunny day,
He finally melted away,
And all that was left,
(On where was his chest)
Best UK Beaches to Visit

BARAFUNDLE BAY

Barafundle Bay is a remote, slightly curved, east-facing sandy beach in Pembrokeshire, Wales, near Stackpole Quay and is part of the Stackpole Estate, managed by The National Trust.

The beach, used to be owned by the Cawdor family of Stackpole Court and was their private beach. On the northern approach to the beach are steps and a wall which were built by the owners to ease access to the beach.

BAMBURGH BEACH

The extensive sandy beach was awarded the Blue Flag Rural Beach Award in 2005.

The Bamburgh sandy hills, an area of sand dunes which are a site of special scientific interest, stand behind the award winning beach. Bamburgh is popular with holidaymakers and is within the Northumberland Coast Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. Visit Bamburgh Castle right on the beach.

The Wetland Centre is a wonderful place full of wildlife and fun. There is an upstairs play area and an outdoor playground for kids, and a Wetland café full of delicious things to eat. There are many species of birds there and 3 or 4 otters.

Fulham Palace was the old home of the Bishop. Fulham Palace is a great place to take the family out for the day. There is a café full of yummy food, but there might be room for a picnic in the pretty garden. The garden is full blooming flowers and is a great place to have a little stroll in, or just to lie in the sun.

Chelsea Physic Garden is tucked away beside the Thames on Royal Hospital Road. Chelsea Physic Garden is a celebration of the beauty and importance of plants. This walled Garden was founded in 1673 by the Worshipful Society of Apothecaries (makers of medicine) for its apprentices (trainees) to study the medicinal qualities of plants. It became one of the most important centres of botany (the study of plants) and plant exchange in the world. Today, as an independent charity, it relies on visitors, friends and supporters to help protect and nurture the Garden for future generations. They do excellent Children’s events. See their website.
I hope that those of you that went to this year’s Chelsea Flower Show in May had a splendid time (I’m sure you did)! I heard it was a magnificent show and was truly beautiful.

Vertical Gardens in London!

The largest vertical garden in London is at the Rubens Hotel in Victoria. It has 10,000 plants on its wall! It’s called the ‘Living Wall’.

Closer to our school is the clothes shop J Crew on Sloane square (left pic) and our very own St Luke’s playground toilets are covered in plants.

Edgware Tube Station also has a vertical garden.

This year the football World Cup was held in Brazil, South America. The teams in the World Cup were: Brazil, Japan, Australia, Iran, South Korea, Netherlands, Italy, Costa Rica, United States, Argentina, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, Columbia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Russia, England, Spain, Chile Ecuador, Honduras, Nigeria, Ivory Coast, Cameroon, Ghana, Algeria, Greece, Croatia, Portugal, France, Mexico and Uruguay.

Most people in Brazil were against their country hosting the World Cup.

Weeks before the World Cup started people were protesting against it happening. When Brazil was chosen to be the host country, 8 in 10 people were in favour of it happening but only a few weeks before the start of the World cup, less than 50% were in favour of it.

The teams considered most likely to win were: Brazil, Spain, Italy and The Netherlands. BUT......

The WINNERS were: GERMANY, who beat Argentina 1-0 with only 7 minutes to go before the end!
